Betty, I don't think that went quite as you intended. Were you trying to post a picture? If so, the only way at present is to upload it beforehand to somewhere on the web - most ISPs allot some space to each subscriber. I'm not sure what software to recommend for uploading from a Windows PC since I always use an Apple Mac for my website uploads.

Once it is somewhere on the web then you link to it in your post using the IMG button and enter the complete address (URL) to your picture.
