Thank you very much for posting them Annie. It must be wonderful to have such beautiful birds visiting your garden. Love your garden too, is that lupins I see there?

I wasn't a cat lover either Betty until our cat Garbo presented herself at our back door, pregnant and underfed about 20 years ago. Sadly she died last year, but I will never forget her. I presume that's your cat Annie? I especially like the last pic of her, see the birds watching her and she is pretending to be soooo aloof about the whole thing.

I've asked Hamish about hosting so I should be able to get a couple of pics of my garden for you soon

Catch ya later

Hi there Kdyllass, Glad you like the pics of my cat, she is cute, it keeps her amused watching the birds, not eating them, I will post some more soon, my garden is not the best at the moment as we can't water too much. I am trying hard to keep my palms alive as they can be expensive to replace. I like your pics I like the one with the squirrel in it, your garden looks pretty good as well.
