Hey Ann, sorry to be so tardy in replying (insert feeble excuse of choice here)

Cat is doing fine thanks. Yes, she does love the sun, but, being a most peculiar cat, she also enjoys the rain. She has also taken to invading other people's houses/garages/garden sheds. If she sees an open door, she's in there, like the proverbial shot.

Garden is doing OK too, which is a bit disappointing. I didn't feel up to doing quite so much tending this year and, do you know, it doesn't look all that different. Maybe a few more weeds than there would be normally, but that's about the only difference. So, even my garden doesn't need me any more. ■
