Members, if you sometimes see yourself logged in when you come back to the Kirkcaldy Book after a break, but you also see the Login box, this is because you didn't LOG OUT when you were finished.

We have these settings configured to prevent any nasty little hackers ruining the site but nothings perfect, so if you can remember to LOG OUT when you're done you'll not have any problems.

This will not apply to everyone as it's also due to your individual browser settings for caching and cookies.

If it bothers you at all, drop me an email, but most people will unlikely notice it anyway.
