Hi Keith, well I have just transfered the pictures, unfortunately my camera has had to go back to Nikon, I was trying to take some pictures yesterday and it went rather funny like a water colour painting that had too much water on it and run, it seems that there is a fault in the camera and people are taking them back, so it might be 2 weeks or more before I get it back. I will post the ones I did get, this spider was in my little green house and I do not know what kind it is but will do a bit research. It does not look as nasty as your one Keith.
